Case Study: Streamlining User Journey and Boosting Brand Trust for Aeris Dynamics (Singapore)

Challenge:

Aeris Dynamics, a company based in Singapore, specializes in custom cold chain packaging solutions for industries like pharmaceutical, biotechnology, medical, and F&B. Since 2001, the company has built a solid reputation as a reliable partner for global clients with unique temperature and time-sensitive demands. This rebranding aimed to emphasize its functional attributes and communicate its sustainable and comprehensive temperature-sensitive solutions, enhancing customer trust and establishing greater brand awareness and recall.

A significant area identified for improvement was their website. Disorganized information architecture led to a high bounce rate, as visitors left the site quickly without finding the needed information. This issue hindered Aeris Dynamics's ability to effectively communicate its expertise in providing reliable and sustainable temperature-controlled packaging solutions across various industries, impacting the overall website functionality and user experience.
